OUR ENVISIONED FUTURE

Point Chevalier School | Rangi-mata-rau is full of engaged, positive, and inspired students, teachers and staff. Respectful relationships exist at all levels. We have a strong sense of hauora (wellbeing). We are all reflective, self-regulated learners. We keep the learner at the centre of everything we do.

Teachers facilitate an environment where no one is afraid to take risks. Students know what and how they are learning, why, and how to be successful. Students take responsibility and ownership of this. They are prepared and have the skills for the next stage of their learning. They have an open mind towards new challenges that come their way.

Our students demonstrate a humble confidence. Resilience is actively taught and allowed to build. Everybody has a chance to speak and is listened to; student voice is cultivated and encouraged. Teachers adapt their practice to meet needs of individual students with a flexible curriculum that bends to the child. Our students have time to follow their own interests and develop their own passions. Teachers are role models for risk-taking. Our teachers show compassion, empathy, and an understanding of a child's struggle, demonstrating a willingness to support them through it. Above all else our teachers are creative, innovative, inspiring, adaptable and flexible.

Our school provides diverse opportunities and promotes an inclusive, integrated curriculum. We provide specialist programmes and ensure a balanced curriculum.

Our students know how to think and solve problems. We value lateral and critical thinking that generate alternative, outside-the-box ideas. We have confident and articulate individuals who have a strong sense of drive and identity. Students and teachers are free to positively challenge the status quo in order to promote progress and create their own future.

The Point Chevalier School | Rangi-mata-rau community has a collective responsibility for student achievement. We have a strong home, school and community partnership with clear, positive, and open communication. Our parents and caregivers have trust in our school's approach to learning and education.

Our students leave us as creative, forward thinking, empathetic, resilient individuals. They are able to analyse information, opinions and ideas with confidence and humility. They lead us into the future.

OUR SCHOOL

Point Chevalier School | Rangi-mata-rau is a large (U6) contributing Primary School. We will end 2026 with 665 students and a large staff of over 60. The school has had stable and effective leadership for several years.

Our school is committed to supporting our staff as they are our most valuable and treasured resource.

Supporting your Work Environment
Our grounds are wonderful. We have many mature trees lining our boundaries, shading our play areas, creating a native tree grove.

Trees have been added in recent years. Thousands of dollars have been spent in developing garden areas, under-planting existing trees and landscaping for beauty. We are very proud of our grounds as there is a space and place for any activity.

We have thirty-two classrooms and a number of small teaching spaces. We have a 25-metre swimming pool, have a music room, an outdoor Tiger Turf floodlit covered court, and a multipurpose technology / kitchen facility. Our auditorium seats 720 people and is a valuable centre for many cultural and performing arts activities. Our library is inviting and houses our teaching resources. We have recently refurbished our Year 5&6 learning spaces to allow for more collaboration.

We have a large staff lounge where people can relax and recharge. Te Whare Wānanga is where we meet as a staff once a week if needed. This is also a space for teacher release and learning.

We supply you with the tools of today so that you can work efficiently and effectively. We have numerous devices and will consolidate our approach to student owned devices each year. Each teacher has a laptop and an iPad supplied for their use.

Point Chevalier School | Rangi-mata-rau is well set up for learning and teaching.

Supporting your Health
Our School Board believes the staff is our greatest asset. Investing in quality staff is an investment in quality education. Having selected staff carefully, its next priority is to invest in the good health of that staff.

HIB, Hep. B, Measles and flu vaccines are fully funded. We run an Employee Assistance Programme through Vitae – this is open to all members of staff and covers the cost of 3 counselling sessions.

We also provide staff jackets to keep you dry and warm – and no you don't have to hand them back! We take your health seriously; we want you to be at your best.

Supporting Classroom Programmes

Each of our teachers belongs to one of six teams, with an appointed team leader. Each of our support staff belongs to a support staff team.

These teams meet regularly to plan team activities, classroom programmes, and grow their adaptive expertise.

Although each team is the 'home base' for support, the school has developed other very effective support structures. These include:

- A staffed school library and resource centre that supports teachers in everyday learning
- Te Reo Māori specialisation designed to help staff and students increase their understanding of Māori Language and Tikanga
- Music specialisation which allows teachers time for professional development in Music on a regular basis
- A student support facility. Although your students are your responsibility, our staff in student support have the knowledge and willingness to help our teachers with GATE, CWSN, CALD(ESOL) or children with individual learning needs

Supporting Professional Learning

We grow and develop leaders and learners. As a school we set aside a generous professional learning budget for the staff as well as a separate budget for the leadership team.

We chose the BSLA journey with year 0-3 and year 4-6. Professional learning like this takes time and we will take our time implementing the refreshed mathematics curriculum. We will develop our approach once the PLD is complete.

Our focus is on deepening our Assessment for Learning practices and we have a commitment to collaborative inquiry using the Kaiser and Halbert model of Inquiry Spirals. We have committed to working with Michael Absolum and Renae Kettle from Evaluation Associates to deepen our Assessment for learning capability over the next three years. The Senior Leadership Team are here to grow your leadership and support your journey.

Supporting Tertiary Study

Our Board wishes to assist teachers to achieve their goals of advancing their qualifications and thus also increasing their own personal salaries. Our Board has therefore agreed to pay 50% of the cost of all tertiary papers that lead towards an education diploma or a degree.

We set aside a budget to assist our staff. In addition to this financial assistance, our Board offers one day's study/exam leave per paper.

Support staff also need a high degree of training. To encourage this, where it is identified by the school leadership that a tertiary paper is necessary for the staff member to carry out the job, partial course fees may be granted to assist.

Supporting your Career

At Point Chevalier School | Rangi-mata-rau, we want our staff to grow professionally, feel valued in their work, and have opportunities to develop their skills and experience.

We recognise that people's careers develop in different ways. While we hope staff will enjoy being part of our school for many years, we also want the experience gained here to support whatever comes next. This includes opportunities to take on responsibility, develop leadership, strengthen professional practice, and build the experience and confidence needed for future roles.

We are committed to providing opportunities that build your capability and offer new challenges. Over the years, many staff have grown into leadership roles, both within our school and beyond, including as Team Leaders, Associate Principals and Principals. We are proud to support people as they develop and take the next steps in their careers.

Supporting the growth and career aspirations of our people is an important part of being a strong and supportive workplace.

Supporting You

Work is important, but so are the people we work alongside and the enjoyment we get from being part of a team. We want Point Chevalier School | Rangi-mata-rau to be a place where people enjoy coming to work, feel that they belong, and know that they are part of a community that values them as a person as well as for the work they do.

Schools are busy places and there will always be demanding days. Looking out for one another, sharing a laugh, stopping for a conversation and taking time to celebrate the good things all help make those busy days a little easier. We want warmth, humour and a sense of connection to be part of our workplace culture.

Throughout the year there are opportunities to get together socially, celebrate successes and milestones, welcome new people, farewell colleagues and simply enjoy each other's company. Some of these occasions are organised, while others happen more spontaneously. There is never an expectation that everyone will take part in everything. We recognise that people connect in different ways and have different commitments outside of school.

We also believe it is important to acknowledge the contribution people make. Whether it is a significant achievement, a birthday, a personal milestone, the completion of a particularly busy period, or simply something worth celebrating, we want to make space for those moments.

We work hard and our work carries significant responsibility, but that doesn't mean we need to take ourselves too seriously all of the time. Having fun, building friendships, supporting one another and sharing the occasional laugh all contribute to making Point Chevalier School | Rangi-mata-rau a positive and enjoyable place to work.

Ultimately, Supporting You is about recognising that a great workplace is about more than the work itself. It is about people, relationships, belonging and creating an environment where we can do good work while enjoying being part of the team.
